Matthew and Elaine Bonowitz and their dance show POLKA TODAY! are the newest form of entertainment in polka. Their dancing adds a new twist to polka by incorporating swing and country style dance steps which results in a flashy, high-energy dance show that surely is a must-see show. POLKA TODAY! has been featured recently at events such as Polish Gift of Life's Annual Fundraiser, Polish Children's Heartline Banquet, Polish Night with Jimmy Sturr and his Orchestra in Eisenhower Park, and made a special guest appearance with Lynn Marie and the Boxhounds at the Wursthfest in Texas this past November. The show has been a huge success and a huge step forward for polka dancing already, and strives to appeal to more audiences by featuring oberek, swing, country and ballroom dances, as well. "Turbocharged!" said Suzanne Saramak of the Polish Gift of Life Foundation.

Matthew and Elaine have danced miles of dance floors throughout the nation supporting polka from New York to Las Vegas, Canada to the Caribbean. Matthew and Elaine are five-time polka dance champions - Matthew danced the polka on the stage of the Grand Ole Opry; Elaine danced the polka in the national TV commercial for the iPod. Together they are the featured dancers each week on The Jimmy Sturr TV Show on RFD-TV and appear on Jimmy Sturr - "LIVE" available on DVD. Sponsored and home-based at the Bayway Polish Club in Elizabeth, New Jersey, "The Polka Dance Capital of the East", Matthew and Elaine are impressing audiences with their rendition of polka dancing. They have over 20 years organized dance experience, performing with, and are still active in, the Polonaise Folk Dance Company.

"With our dancing, we're hoping to broaden the opinion of polka and show people what polka really is," said Matthew. "Polka is a universal, fun dance that can be enjoyed by everyone. And those who have never tried polka dancing, don't know what they're missing", said Elaine. They hope to show people what a great time polka dancing is. If you've seen them dance you would know what I mean. They bring an extraordinary amount of energy and enthusiasm into all of their dancing.
